

Clothing colors your caregivers wear

Many members of the healthcare team are dressed in scrubs. To allow you to easily identify the roles the team members play in your care, our healthcare team members wear standard color scrubs. Scrub colors are based on their role on the team.

You can recognize our healthcare team members by the following scrub colors:

Women and newborn services

Healthcare team members in this unit have unique identifying dress standards. Please speak with your nurse or other caregiver to learn about how to identify these team members.
