Exceptional, compassionate and innovative cardiac care close to home

OhioHealth has the largest network of heart failure clinics throughout central Ohio. We work closely with hospitals and providers within and outside of OhioHealth to get patients the care they need without leaving their community. Each of our clinics is directed by a board-certified cardiologist with a special interest in heart failure, along with nurse practitioners who have specialized training in heart failure.

Patient benefits

Our care team supports our patients at every step in their journey, from diagnosis through end-of-life care decisions. We offer evidence-based medical and device therapies and educate patients about how to better manage their condition to help them avoid hospital admissions and continue living an active life. We are also able to connect our patients with clinical trials that offer new hope as well as social services that help them overcome barriers to care.
